Is Computer Science Dying?

Alex Nicolau

University of California, Irvine, United States

Abstract. This talk discusses some positive and negative trends in the field. It briefly examines some case studies, and finally discusses things that we as a community could do better.